A $1 Dinner for 4

Do you realize that you can serve a bird of a dinner at a cost of twenty-five cents per person? No, we're not suggesting the method pictured above, but read the following menu and you'll get the idea.

Chili Con Carne au Gratin 48¢
Buttered Stringless Beans 12¢
Sliced Cucumbers in Vinegar, Salt and Pepper 7¢
Bread and Butter 8¢
Cottage Pudding with Fruit Sauce 25¢
Demi-tasse 3¢

Chili Con Carne au Gratin: Put layers of chili con carne (from the contents of two 10½-ounce cans of chili con carne) and grated cheese (using one-fourth pound) in a buttered baking dish and pour over the layers one-half cup milk. Bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven.

Cottage Pudding: Beat one egg, add one-half cup sugar and four tablespoons milk. Add the following sifted dry ingredients: one-half cup sugar, three-fourths cup flour, one and one-fourth teaspoons baking powder and one-eighth teaspoon salt. Then add three tablespoons melted butter. Bake in a flat pan in a moderate oven—375 degrees—for twenty to twenty-five minutes. Cut in wedges and serve hot with the following:

Fruit Sauce: Mix one tablespoon flour with one-half cup brown sugar and add to the contents of an 8-ounce can of crushed pineapple. Add one teaspoon vinegar and one and one-half tablespoons butter. Cook in a double boiler until creamy, stirring constantly. Add four tablespoons cream and serve over the hot pudding.*

Better Breakfasts

Better breakfasts mean better days—and that's the sort of days we need. He may be the angelic sort of husband who will eat toast and eggs and the usual breakfast menu without saying a word—but anyway, try him on corn cakes and bacon with fish and then listen to the words he'll say. He may even feel so good around noontime that he'll call up and say "Let's go to that nice little place you like for dinner." Our menu suggestion is cool, colorful and delicious.

Chilled Mixed Fruit Juices
Ready-to-Eat Cereal with Cream
Small Sautéed Fish (Trout or Butterfish) with Bacon Strips
Spider Corn Cake — Coffee

Chilled Mixed Fruit Juices: Combine the following ice cold ingredients and serve in small cocktail glasses or in glass cups: contents of one 12-ounce can of pineapple juice, contents of one 10-ounce can of grapefruit juice, one-fourth cup orange juice, two tablespoons fresh lime juice and one tablespoon sugar.*

Frenchman Would Show Toe-Dancing Fleas Here

Paris, France.—The flea-tamer, Jean Rochet, who has presented his performing fleas at fairs all over France, was preparing his troupe recently for a forthcoming visit to the United States, provided he can get it through immigration and quarantine stations.

Rochet has devoted a lifetime to the study of fleas, teaching them tricks of toe dancing, gymnastics and juggling.

"Each one is trained according to his particular character and temperament," said Rochet. "When first caught, each one is tied with a fine strand of golden wire, which is fixed with the aid of a microscope. This prevents the flea from escaping, since he can only jump a certain distance owing to the weight of the golden wire.

"The fleas begin to show propensities for either dancing, juggling or 'strong-man' feats and these qualities are developed carefully over a period of weeks.

"They get to know me soon and are extremely obedient. They can even be taught to respond to the dinner gong. I prefer the male flea because he is more conscientious."

RHEUMATIC FEVER TRACED TO TEETH

Scientist Tells of Tests Made on Animals.

Philadelphia.—Jefferson Medical college has just completed experiments tending to prove definitely that rheumatic fever is the direct results of focal infections, such as infected teeth and tonsils.

This was achieved by managing for the first time to produce satisfactory infections artificially in animals and studying the immediate and subsequent results.

Dr. Virgil Holland Moon of the college laboratory announced the results and explained the methods of these experiments at clinical sessions in the amphitheater of Jefferson hospital, arranged by and for ex-internes of the institution.

He said that previous efforts at artificially inducing chronic focal infections in experimental animals had failed because the viruses used had been introduced under the skin by injection.

FRUIT SANDWICHES FOR SUMMER

When you want to go for a drive and park and picnic—when you want to just plain picnic in nearby woods — when you want to eat out on the lawn or on the porch—whenever, in fact, you want to eat outdoors, it is both wise and convenient to make a selection of sandwiches part of your meal.

It's so easy, too, nowadays when we have ready-prepared sandwich spreads and all sorts of delicious cold meats and fish in cans ready to be put between buttered slices of white, brown or whole wheat bread. But there is one kind of sandwich, in particular, that it is wise to include in your menu, and that's a sandwich including [illegible] fruit.

So here are a few suggestions for fruit sandwiches for the summer months when outdoor eating is so popular.

From the Tropics

The following two sandwiches include fruits from the tropics—cocoanuts, bananas and pineapple.

Tropical Sandwich: Spread thinly sliced and buttered white bread with peanut butter. On one slice spread drained crushed Hawaiian pineapple and on the other sprinkle moist canned cocoanut. Put the two slices together, and cut in small sandwiches.

Fruit Sandwiches: Crush two bananas slightly, and add one-fourth cup drained crushed pineapple and one-fourth cup chopped nuts. Use as filling between white or whole wheat bread. This makes eight full slice sandwiches, but it's more fun to cut them into fancy shapes.

Be sure to save the syrup drained from the canned pineapple to use as an ingredient of almost any cold fruit drink.

Containing Cheese

Cheese is both nutritious and sustaining in sandwiches. Here are three which contain it.

Pineapple Jam Sandwich: Mash one package cream cheese, and add two tablespoons drained crushed Hawaiian pineapple and one tablespoon blackberry or black currant jam. Spread between thin buttered slices of Boston brown bread. This makes from four to six whole slice sandwiches which can be cut up as desired.

Nippy Sandwich: Spread white bread with butter, and then with a very soft snappy yellow cheese. Cover one slice with drained pineapple, and put the two slices together.

Cream Cheese, Pineapple and Nut Sandwiches: Mix one package cream cheese, two tablespoons chopped nuts, two tablespoons drained crushed Hawaiian pineapple and a few grains of salt. Spread on thinly sliced, buttered white or whole wheat bread. This makes four full slice sandwiches. Cut into smaller sizes.

Nuts and Things

Nuts combine well with a number of other things beside cheese. Here are a couple of happy combinations:

Fruit and Nut Sandwiches: Mix one-half cup thick sour cream, one-half cup chopped nuts, and one-fourth cup drained crushed pineapple. Spread between thin slices of buttered raisin bread. This makes eight full slice sandwiches.

Two-Layer Pineapple Sandwiches: Shred the contents of one 6-ounce can of lobster, and add one-half cup chopped stuffed olives, one-half cup mayonnaise and one teaspoon lemon juice. Cream one package cream cheese, and add one-half cup chopped nuts and one-half cup drained crushed Hawaiian pineapple. Have three slices of bread for each sandwich. Spread a slice of bread with butter, cover with lobster mixture and a piece of lettuce. Lay on another slice of buttered bread, and spread with cheese and pineapple mixture. Top with last slice of bread, buttered. Cut as desired. This makes twelve full slice sandwiches.

Meat Sandwiches

Chicken Salad and Pineapple Sandwiches: Mince the contents of a 6-ounce can of chicken, and combine with one-eighth cup chopped celery, one-fourth cup chopped pimiento and mayonnaise to moisten. Split the slices from a No. 2 or a No. 2½ can of Hawaiian pineapple in two thin rounds. Cut bread in same size rounds as the pineapple. Lay a round of pineapple on buttered bread, spread with chicken salad, lay on a leaf of lettuce, cover with another round of pineapple, and top with bread. This makes eight whole sandwiches.

Ham and Pineapple Sandwiches: Mix together one-half cup minced ham, one-fourth cup mayonnaise, two tablespoons thick sour cream, two tablespoons grated horse-radish and a few grains of salt. Add one-fourth cup crushed Hawaiian pineapple, well drained, and spread between buttered bread or between split and buttered finger rolls. This makes four whole slice sandwiches.

Don't forget to save the syrup drained from the canned pineapple in these recipes to use as an ingredient for a fruit drink.*

An editorial article under the caption, "When the 5:15 stops running" has attracted much and has since been widely copied. It follows, in part:

"Every time the Montana rail road commission, or any other similiar body in any state, grants a license for a bus or truck line paralleling the existing lines of a rail road, a step has been taken to silence forever the whistle of the 5:15. And do people realize what it means to put the rail roads out of business? There are counties in Montana where the rail roads pay all the way from 15 per cent of the taxes to as high as 80 per cent . . . All over America 5:15's are going. They are being licked, but some day we will wake up to our folly . . . Just stop and think where will we be when the 5:15 runs no more down the long line of shimmering steele?"
